The Eastern Carolina Workforce Development Board [ECWDB] is pleased to present our updated 2020 Strategic Plan, which sets our strategic priorities and guides our efforts to strengthen the region's workforce for the coming years.

BACKGROUND

Prior to the strategic planning session, on June 13, 2019, the ECWDB executive committee conducted a SWOT analysis, revisited the vision and mission statement and reviewed data and labor market information to help shape the board priorities to be addressed as part of the strategic plan.

On September 13 & 14, 2019, the ECWDB and the neighboring workforce development boards held a combined strategic planning retreat. The six boards have held these planning retreats since 2005. This influential partnership consists of Eastern Carolina, Cape Fear, Lumber River, Northeastern, Region Q, and Turning Point WDBs representing 37 eastern counties.

Working together, the boards formed the Vision East WDB alliance to ensure alignment in addressing broad workforce challenges that are reflective of the NCWorks Commission's vision for workforce development. The 2019 strategic planning session focused on Governor Cooper's workforce initiatives and the NCWorks Commission's strategies to focus on increased educational attainment levels, engaging private-sector leadership, and local innovation.

Building upon these sessions and prior work, the Board's key strategies and action plan were updated. The development of the strategic plan includes input gathered from board members, youth council members, economic development, local chambers, businesses, community partners, and our customers.

This document is a result of an inclusive and collaborative process that seeks to address the workforce challenges identified within the Eastern Carolina region.

OUR PURPOSE

The purpose of this updated strategic plan is to redefine the Board's priorities and to align the Board's work with the evolving needs of the region's workforce system over the next two years.

The strategic plan update takes into account the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act of 2014, which seeks to improve job and career options for our region's workers and job seekers through an integrated, job-driven public workforce system that links diverse talent to business needs. It supports the development of a healthy, vibrant regional economy where businesses thrive, and where people want to live and work.

The plan outlines the priorities of the ECWDB to achieve its vision. Adopted from the United States Department of Labor, Employment and Training Administration, our local workforce system, known as the NCWorks Career Center System, is being characterized by three critical pillars:

- The needs of businesses and workers drive workforce solutions;
- NCWorks Career Centers provide excellent customer service to employers and job seekers and focus on continuous improvement; and
- The workforce system partners and staff support a robust regional economy and play an active role in community and workforce development.

Across the NCWorks Career Center system, continuous improvement occurs through evaluation, accountability, identification of best practices, and data-driven decision making.

The Needs of Businesses and Workers Drive Workforce Solutions:

Local businesses inform and guide the workforce system and access skilled talent as they shape regional workforce investments and build a pipeline of skilled workers. This engagement includes leadership in the workforce system and active participation in the development and provision of education and training, work-based learning, career pathways, and industry sector partnerships. Job seekers and workers, including those individuals with barriers to employment such as people with disabilities, have the information and guidance to make informed decisions about training and careers, as well as access to the education, training and support services they need to compete in current and future labor markets.

NCWorks Career Centers Provide Excellent Customer Service to Job seekers, Workers, and Employers and Focus on Continuous Improvement:

NCWorks Career Centers and partners provide job seekers, including individuals with barriers to employment, such as people with disabilities, with the skills and credentials necessary to secure and advance in employment with family-sustaining wages. Additionally, NCWorks Career Centers enable employers to quickly identify and hire skilled workers and access other support, including education and training for their current workforce.

The NCWorks Workforce System Supports A Strong Regional Economy:

Meeting workforce needs is critical to economic growth. The State and local workforce development boards—in partnership with the workforce, economic development, education, and social service organizations at the state, regional and local levels—align education and training investments to regional civic and economic growth strategies, ensuring that all job seekers and businesses can access pathways to prosperity.

A proud partner of the

OUR PROGRESS

The EWDB's progress in addressing these key strategies has been ongoing and is evident through the established partnerships with our regional and local economic developers, community colleges, school systems, businesses, chambers of commerce, and community organizations to ensure that our region is known as a pro-active, forward-thinking region that has a workforce to support local industry. Through our collective efforts, our region is recognized at the State and National levels as a Certified Work Ready Communities Region. The workforce development services in our network of NCWorks Career Centers is also reflective of how the Board is addressing five key strategies to ensure alignment with the NCWorks Commission's strategic plan and vision for North Carolina.

The ECWDB, partners, and staff take great pride in the work that has and continues to occur throughout this region. The shared vision for our region and state continues to move the board forward in new areas that align career development strategies into concise career pathways and focuses on sector strategies that align to the region's high growth, high wage, and high skill demands.

The ECWDB and local workforce development partners are working together to create a talent pipeline that will result in satisfied employers offering long-term employment, sound job retention, and increased earnings. Workforce development services for businesses include recruiting, assessing, screening, and referring candidates; labor market information, work-based learning, on-the-job training, and customized training; pre-apprenticeship and apprenticeship, assistive technology and other support for companies. Workforce development services for job seekers include skills assessments, job search assistance, resume preparation, access to job listings, career planning and development, connection to high school completion and GED, occupational skills training, literacy skills training, job search, life skills classes, and support services.

OUR ACTION PLAN

The following pages are the strategies and objectives that the ECWDB, staff, NCWorks partners, and WIOA service providers will continue addressing in this current year. The strategies are assigned to the Board committees/staff to establish performance indicators and monitor progress toward the goals to ensure performance is achieved. The NCWorks Career Center managers, service providers, and ECWDB staff play a pivotal role in ensuring the achievement of this vital work.

The Eastern Carolina WDB, committees, and staff will continue to participate in and/or facilitate meetings with its partners to address action items, revise, update, and evaluate outcomes, and establish priorities and timelines as warranted. The plan will be updated and provided to the ECWDB Executive Committee at their bi-monthly meetings.

OUR PERFORMANCE INDICATORS

The ECWDB will use the following indicators to evaluate the overall performance of the local workforce system. Current data will be obtained to establish a realistic benchmark for progress.

- A continually growing workforce;
- A lower unemployment rate;
- An increase in number of people entering targeted career pathways;
- An increase in students enrolling in and completing education and training programs that expand and complement the traditional four-year college option, including certificate-based training, apprenticeship, and two-year degrees;
- An increase in job readiness among high school graduates;
- An increase in high school completion rates;
- An increase in people participating in continuing education activities;
- An increase in literacy rates among the Region's population;
- A decrease in number of people on public assistance;
- Return on investment data based upon wage earnings; and
- Local WIOA Performance Goals.

Strategy 1: Create an integrated, seamless, and customer-centered workforce system.

The ECWDB's responsibility is to design a system that provides economic opportunity for everyone who wants to go to work, find a better job, or improve their skills to succeed in the current and future workforce. WDBs are tasked with identifying great practices and fostering truly innovative solutions, from technological solutions (e.g. to integrate data platforms across agencies) to program solutions (developing career pathways for sectors), identifying the hard to serve populations within the community, and how best to streamline operations and service delivery. WDBs are to measure and report on the effectiveness of the workforce development system including the usage and quality of services.

Strategy 2: Engage business and community leaders in addressing workforce issues and promote strategies to improve basic workforce skills.

WDB are to build sector-based, regional, and cross discipline teams and exploit the increased flexibility under WIOA to engage businesses. Likewise, business engagement begins with the ECWDB as individual members bring their experience and existing networks to the board. Many Board members serve on other important business or community councils, committees, and boards. These entities may have discussions about employment and training issues that can be brought back to the workforce board. These contacts can also be used to share positive information about Workforce Development Board activities that are occurring within the region. As appropriate, the board encourages its membership to take a leadership role in their respective county by participating in various stakeholder meetings with workforce, education, and/or economic development groups in order to share their knowledge, experiences, and expertise gained in crafting workforce solutions. WDB's can engage the business community through providing business services and as a partner in sector strategies and work-based learning.

Strategy 3: Implement a community awareness plan that promotes education, life-long learning and the workforce development services that are available for both job/training seekers and employers.

As a part of the 2019 Vision East board retreat, the WDBs addressed two broad goals: increasing educational attainment levels and broadening business engagement. All agree that a good education is the foundation for a strong workforce. A youth or adult who completes high school and enrolls in a community college training program is more likely to participate in the workforce, have a job, work more hours and earn more, and less likely to be unemployed. The benefits of education go beyond the economic returns. Higher levels of education also correspond to improved health, lower rates of mortality, and lower rates of crime which is why the ECWDB is adding these criteria to the overall performance metric for evaluating workforce effectiveness.

Strategy 4: Ensure effective career pathways strategies that result in employment opportunities for all citizens.

Talent is the lifeblood of economic growth and, as the economy continues to create jobs, companies will need more help than ever in finding, training and retaining talent. Businesses across industry sectors continue to report they're having a hard time finding workers with the right skills for their jobs. Our work plays a central role in building the talent pipeline for the future. In overseeing WIOA Title I funds, the Board, consistent with their strategic plan, oversight, and evaluation, uses competitive procurement to determine the best methods for disbursing funds for workforce employment and training services. Services are funded through WIOA Title I federal resources and that funding comes with rules regarding expenditure and performance expectations. WDBs must ensure that Title I WIOA service providers comply with all applicable rules regarding funding and service provision and that they meet performance standards. Funding is tied to performance targets set by the federal government.

Strategy 5: Build the capacity of the Consortium, Eastern Carolina WDB, and NCWorks Career Center staff and partners.

The WDB is not the only entity responsible for building a world class workforce system. The power lies in being able to set the vision and convene the right partners together to broker a more comprehensive set of solutions. The WDB is to build and nurture strong local partnerships with community organizations, including businesses, education, and economic development. Under WIOA, WDBs convene, collaborate, and host statewide and community conversations that help Board members understand the complexity of their regional markets and make decisions about how to align workforce resources. By implementing the responsibilities and duties given to local WDBs by federal and state law, boards develop effective strategic initiatives, as local boards serve as the point of contact for assessing the skills of businesses and are entrusted to influence the direction of workforce programs through local strategic planning. Likewise, local WDBs, in their comprehensive evaluation of workforce services, must also monitor the overall effectiveness of one-stop centers and related workforce programs. All of these activities represent the ECWDB's strategic role in workforce development.

The goal is for employers, educators, community agencies, foundations, and other partners to benefit directly from listening to businesses about what is happening in the marketplace and how they are dealing with recruitment and retention issues.
5.2 Facilitate a training session with the Consortium and WDB members to discuss roles and responsibilities as required by WIOA.	ECWDB Staff	Provide an annual orientation and training opportunity for the newer county managers, elected officials, WDB members, and NCWorks Career Center managers to fully understand roles, responsibilities, and funding as it relates to WIOA and broad workforce development needs.
5.3. Continue Regional WDB Vision East Strategic Planning efforts to ensure alignment with strategic goals and evaluate progress.	ECWDB Staff	Host annual Vision East planning retreat with the six eastern WDBs.  Participate in a joint WDB meeting with Cape Fear WDB to ensure strategic plan alignment of goals and regional expectations.

Strategy 6: Strengthen alliances with economic development to identify and address workforce needs of current and future industries.

For the past decade, the ECWDB has continued to build and foster strong economic development partnerships. These efforts of collaboration are evidenced by the Region being known as the first North Carolina Region to be designated as a Work Ready Certified Community. Economic Developers continue to report that Workforce Development is their number one priority for recruiting new industry and assisting local firms with expansion efforts. Under WIOA, workforce and economic development partnerships are critical to developing regional sector strategies and creating and ensuring a successful economy.

Strategy 7: Increase educational attainment for in-school and out-of-school youth.

Workforce development provides opportunities for WDB's to provide leadership to connect, train, and educate young adults for careers that help businesses and our economy thrive. Youth and young adults exposure to these opportunities are critical to the talent pipeline needed for a strong economy. The ECWDB continues to incorporate new strategies to remove roadblocks and engage young adults ages 16-24 who face barriers to employment. As our economy grows, the vast majority of new jobs require more than a high school diploma. The ECWDB will provide a leadership role in empowering youth and bolstering our region's growing workforce, by coordinating efforts and working collaboratively with the public schools, community colleges, businesses, and other partners.
